A BRUTAL HOLD-UP

Double Murder and Robbery on a Pennsylvania Highway

$3,000 TAKEN FROM A PAYMASTER

Great Stir Caused in a Pennsylvania Mining Town by the Act of Robbers in Firing From the Roadside Upon Paymaster Patrick Campbell and His Driver, Charles Hayes.

Johnstown, Pa., Special.—Charles Hayes, a driver employed by the Puritan Coal Company, is dead, and Patrick Campbell, the company's paymaster, lies perhaps fatally wounded at the Altoona Hospital, as the result of a brutal hold-up and murder on the township road leading from Portage, this county, to the mining town of Puritan, at about 10:15 o'clock Saturday morning. The two men were in a buggy, taking a satchel containing about $3,000, with which to pay the coal company's employees at Puritan, from the Adams Express office at Portage to the coal town, when, at a point about three-quarters of a mile out of Portage, they were suddenly fired upon by three men armed with shot guns.
Hayes fell to the bottom of the buggy pierced by 37 buckshot wounds in his neck and breast, and died about half an hour later. Campbell was hit in the shoulder and fell from the buggy.
The highwaymen came out from their place of hiding in the woods to the right of the road, secured the satchel of money and escaped.

According to their usual custom near the first of the month, Campbell and Hayes went to Portage about 8 o'clock in the morning and ate breakfast at the Portage House. At 9 o'clock the two went to the office of the Adams Express Company, where they obtained about $3,000 in gold and bills, which they placed in a small leather satchel.
Armed with 48-calibre revolvers as a protection against possible robbery, they got into their buggy and drove out the township road. This was the last seen of them before the shooting took place. About ten minutes after their departure, Mr. Hesel, a farmer, who lives four miles from Portage, started for home in a spring wagon, over the same road which the paymaster and his driver had taken. Three-quarters of a mile from town, where the road is flanked by woods, he suddenly came upon the body of a man apparently writhing in the death agony in the road.

Mr. Hesel, who was driving the wagon, saw the man lying on the ground. The wounded man was drenched with blood, and was lying on his back, with his head toward the right. He seemed to be dying from a wound in the right shoulder. Although still conscious, Campbell was unable to whisper any words and managed to his driver to Hesel that he was being robbed; that he had been fired upon, had fallen he, the driver, which had gone on.
From the accident the man's wounds were so bad that he was unable to Hesel could with a handkerchief and best of linen ripped from his coat, a 4x4 from the wagon and started on the road in search of the team and driver. He came upon the man lying beyond a short distance from the road, the horse, unharmed, nibbling at the long grass. Coming up opposite the vehicle, he found the form of the driver, Hayes, lying motionless and bloody across the bottom of the buggy. Investigation showed the man's body from the base of the abdomen to the neck a mass of gun-shot wounds, showing red and ghastly through a great rent in the clothing, made by the heavy shot. He seemed to be dead. Hesel tried to lift the prostrate form into his wagon with Campbell, but could not, Hayes weighing about 190 pounds. As no help was at hand, and there was no house nearer than Portage, Hesel turned his wheeled team around and at a gallop back to this place, his now unconscious patient, lying in the bottom of the wagon. He drove directly to the office of Dr. J. A. Schofield, in whose charge Campbell was, secured medical assistance and went back for Hayes.

The body of the driver was taken to Portage, where physicians discovered that although Hayes was unconscious life was not quite extinct. He was wounded beyond recovery, and died within 10 minutes after being brought into the office. Meanwhile Paymaster Campbell, who was still in the office of the doctor, had regained consciousness and was able to give a brief, but incomplete account of the hold-up. Dr. Schofield said that the party who separated Hayes, who was helping the physician.
He said that nothing unusual or suspicious had occurred during the ride from Portage to the place where the shooting took place.

800 Men in Pursuit.
Portage, Pa., Special.—Pursued by 100 men, the three men who murdered Charles Hayes, driver, and perhaps fatally wounded Patrick F. Campbell, paymaster for the Puritan Coal Company, about a mile south of this place Saturday morning, are hiding in Cedar Swamp about seven miles from Portage, on the Bedford county line. One of the fugitives is injured, but not enough to affect his flight.

In parties of about 20, the pursuing men are scattered over the entire boundary of Laurel Thicket Swamp, which is 12 miles long and seven wide.
Every minute, signal shots are heard from different parts of the swamp. A system of signals have been arranged so that none of the searchers will get lost, and to enable them to surround the fugitives when they are found.
The party who separated Hayes, who was helping the physician, and the three hundred men who followed him to Beav-erdale and the others scattered through the swampy paths and beating the swamp.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN COLUMBIA

Sligh & Allen Sustain a Very Heavy Loss.

Columbia, Special.—Sligh & Allen's department store in the Habenicht block was entirely destroyed by fire Saturday night. The destruction of the stock was complete, and the loss will fall very heavily upon the firm, for the insurance was but $26,000 and the stock was valued at $50,000. The building was the property of Mrs. C. C.
Habenicht and was valued at $14,000.
The loss is covered by insurance.

The fire was of origin unknown. The alarm was turned in at 12:50 a. m., and when the blaze was first seen it had within its grasp the entire contents of the store. Mr. Warren Allen of the firm of Sligh & Allen stated that from all the information he could gather the fire was in the midst of the upper story when first seen. He has no idea how it started, for the insurance agents had said that the store was as free from litter as any establishment could well be.

The fire department made a quick response and did effective service in protecting adjoining property, although there was never any hope for the building in which the fire originated. The lighted dress goods materials in the store afforded excellent opportunity for the flames, and the whole store was ablaze when the alarm was sent in.

This is the most costly fire since the destruction of the Minnigh corner last summer. The Habenicht building was erected in 1900 and was one of the most presentable business houses in the city, having a very handsome exterior and an interior arranged on modern lines. Its high fire walls protected the adjoining buildings and kept back the flames which but for this interference would have added other stores to the list of sufferers from the fire.

Mr. Sligh, senior member of the firm of Sligh & Allen, stated that they are now $10,000 poorer than when they started in business under very favorable circumstances a few months ago.
He could not speak of the plans of the firm, for the loss will be so heavy that it may be some time before they will decide what to do.

The Famous Bond Case.
A special from Asheville, N. C., relates the case of the now famous township bond cases. In the proceeding ex parte S. Ellen Folsom et al, in re George W. Folsom, plaintiff, against the Township of Ninety-six, praying a mandamus to compel the auditor of Greenville county to assess and the treasurer to collect taxes to pay judgment and costs on railway bonds, United States Circuit Judge Jeter C. Pritchard has issued an order granting the petition. This is known as the township bond case and certain townships in Greenville, Laurens and Saluda counties are also involved. A hearing in the case was had here a few weeks before Judge Pritchard.

The bonds in question were issued for the construction of the Greenville and Port Royal railway. It was partially graded, but never built and the bonds passed into the hands of third parties.

Judge Pritchard's decision reviews in detail the history of the legislation and litigation including the passage of a constitutional amendment abolishing the corporate capacity of townships.
This method was adopted to save these townships from being forced to pay for a railroad never built, but so far the expedient has failed.

Terra Cotta Works Burned.
Philadelphia, Special.—The group of four buildings of the Ornamental Terra Cotta Works, owned by Conkling, Armstrong & Co., at Washington ave. and Bristol street, this city, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night.
The loss is estimated at $150,000, fully covered by insurance. The concern employed 300 men and had orders on hand to the amount of $500,000.

Shocked by Lightning.
Darlington, Special.—Friday afternoon during the thunderstorm Mr. W.
E. Dargan, Jr., and several of his hands had a frightful experience on his father's plantation in the Mechanicsville section. Mr. Dargan with about 30 hands had assembled beneath the protecting branches of a tree and were engaged in stringing tobacco, when suddenly a bolt descended striking the tree and causing consternation and a stampede among the party. Some four or five of the darkeys were knocked down and Mr. Dargan was also stunned but no damage was done and none of the party was badly hurt.

Secretaries of State to Meet.
Nashville, Tenn., Special.—Through the efforts of Secretary of State John M. Morton, an arrangement has been made whereby Secretaries of States and Territories will meet in St. Louis September 28. The object is to discuss ways and means for securing a uniform law in corporation characters and kindred matters. The burden of corporations of the Department of Commerce and Labor will send a representative.

Florida Orators to Speak.
Jacksonville, Fla., Special.—The executive committee of the second congressional district of Florida adopted resolutions tendering the services of
